

UNIVERSITY OF
South Carolina

Learning from Teaching Form

The University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville as an LCME, ACGME and ACCME accredited provider is eligible to provide physicians who teach and/or other physician educators at the undergraduate and graduate level with CME credit for the Learning associated with Teaching.

CME credit is not earned for teaching but the learning that is acquired from teaching.

Please complete the following:

Name: _____ Email: _____

Type of Educational Activity: _____

Learning associated with Teaching Education Activity Examples:
Formal presentations	Assessing Learner performance
Development of Cases, Clinical Problems	Mentoring QI or PI projects
Supervising clinical or simulated activities	Mentoring or undertaking scholarly activities
Teaching clinical, other skills	Other (please specify):

Name of the activity where you presented? _____

Who were your learners? _____ Approximately how many learners? _____

What was the name of your presentation? _____

Length of presentation? _____ Date of presentation? _____

What made you want to learn more?

Gap Identified	Related Learning Activity	Competency Domain Addressed	Resulting Change in Skills / Knowledge
Clinical knowledge/skills gap and/or gap in educational technique and understanding	e.g., review of current literature; chart review and analysis; other reading; consultation; online searching for teaching, information-sharing	1) Medical Knowledge 2) Clinical Practice / Patient Care and Procedural Skills 3) Professionalism 4) Systems-based Practice 5) Practice-based Learning and Improvement 6) Communication Skills	e.g., improved teaching skills, better understanding of pathophysiology, improved patient management or outcomes

The University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville - Greenville Health System is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians

The University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville - Greenville Health System (USCSOMG-GHS) designates this live activity for a maximum of 2 to 1 ratio to presentation time AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)TM. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

E-mail questions to the CME Team

CME@Prismahealth.org

CME Office only:

Approved for _____ AMA PRA Category 1 CreditsTM

Date posted _____